gameplay
in this version the challenge is not to get to oregon, but to stay.
specifically, in portland.
ready? ok:
> a few screens that
display the structure and explain the default points > they also explain how you'll be going in and out of all roles, not choose-a-role like the first one > spacebar

N
maybe several BEGIN
options that they pick
from:
pandemic / digital nomad
remote work means you
can work from anywhere.
> 2 years of pandemic
new york is 2 years too much
> and everything upstate is already gobbled up > you're feeling like some nice PNW nature and
some peaceful non-
compete interactions
> continue/ - spacebar

0e
they have to click 12
areas/nodes, in any order and/or they have to maintain a total point # of N -OR they just see how many points they have when they're done with 12
> maybe board has more than 12, they can then choose to go on or not?

land apology / land
acknowledgement that precedes every mtg and school assembly. And most cultural events
> "the chinook never ceded this land"
> "mine if I can hold or seize it" (ambrose bierce) > just give it back if you're so woke about it
